INT. HOUSE

This should all be kinda tongue and cheek

BRENDAN

Oh no, my vase has fallen over.

Everyone from now on pops up from increasingly weird places door, window, curtain, top of the wall, other curtain,
other other curtain.

JAMEE

Oh no.

DIOGO

Oh no.

LISA

Oh no!

RUBY

Oh no!

JACKY

Oh no! What will we ever do?

LISA

I know! Let's have a vase raising!

BRENDAN

A vase raising? What's that?

In the style of Ya Got Trouble from The Music Man/Monorail
from the Simpsons/Cold Showers from Crazy Ex-Girlfriend

LISA

*Well a vase raising is a lil ol'
thing that my grandma taught me
here/ You just pick up the pieces
call off the geeses and you put it down right here.*

RUBY

So now you're telling me that if my vase falls down that I just....
put it up?

LISA

*Yes! While life might have gotten you down, you can do this thing
all around the town./ Just step right up and pick up the vase.
Hold it tight and put it in place.*

RUBY
Wow thanks!

JAMEE
Well, look right here, I was raised in the North, but this is how we did it on July 4th!

Dance number followed by the placing of the vase

LISA
That's the idea! Now you're getting it.

Two lines form and the people start a kick line. This then transitions into a jazzhand altar around Lisa

ALL
Vase!

JACKY
Oh no look, it's the rival vase gang.

DEWEY, LAUREN, CHUCK, LAURA, and BRIGID come in snapping West Side Story Style.

DEWEY
You thought you can just come into town and raise a vase?

LAURA
We're the West Side vase topplers and you're on our turf.

West Side Story style snap-off, jumps, kicks, and twirls.

BRIGID
No! Can't we all just get along? I have to admit my love... For The Ruby!

CHUCK
The name of this theater?

BRIGID
(Deadpan)
No, Ruby.

RUBY
That's right! My name is Ruby!
Both in this sketch and in real life. We have been fighting for too long.

RUBY (CONT'D)

Raised vase, toppled vase. Does it really matter? At the end of the day... It all holds water.

ALL

(To audience) Yeah, this sketch holds water!

We're All in This Together starts playing and everyone joins in. The track is shittily remastered to 'We're All In, This Holds water'. Banners fall from the ceiling and confetti falls. The banner say 'Splash' and 'This Holds Water'. Everyone ends with jazz hands and a vase? DEWEY starts juggling with Lauren doing the splits in front.
